

Good news for those wishing to do their Equine Specific First Aid.

The British Horse Society Scotland's ESFAC course is now eligible for ILA funding (Individual Learning Account). If you are 18 and over you can apply to ILA for up to £200 a year for a variety of courses. You can apply on line at www.ilascotland.org.uk or speak to an advisor on the helpline 0808 100 1090. You must apply well ahead of the course date, as it can take time for you to be issued with your reference number. As soon as you receive your number fill in the B.H.S. Scotland form stating which venue you wish to attend and send it to C.H.S. Training (address at the bottom of the form). The provider will then book you in and confirm to ILA that you will be attending that course. Shortly after that you should receive a token and you must send that token number to the provider who is then able to claim back the cost of the course. Please make certain that you apply well in advance as ILA will not pay for courses in retrospect.
